

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 31, 1895.

THAT Congressman Boutelle and General Thayer are by no means the only remaining bloody shirt wavers, is proved by the fact that at the memorial services in one of the graveyards at Washington yesterday, the orator, Mr. Stratton, after animating upon the fact that U. S. cannon had fired salutes at the dedication of the Confederate monument at Chicago on that day, said: "But perhaps our heroes are better off than they were to-day engaged with their survivors in a struggle to keep treacherous wolves, slanderers, malefactors, blasphemers, and calumniators from tearing down the monuments of love and devotion, erected to them in the hearts of a loyal and patriotic people, by a deep and damnable design to tarnish their honor and cheapen the value of their services." Unfortunately for the North, such talk as this is not confined to Washington and New England, and it plainly shows that though more than three decades have elapsed since the last shot was fired, the time has not yet come when it can be said with truth that "the cruel war is over."

EX-CONGRESSMAN RICHARDS, of Ohio, being unable to conceive of anything else upon which to speak on the occasion of the excursion of the Interstate Democratic Association of Washington to Marshall Hall last Wednesday, selected the Monroe Doctrine, and enlarged to his heart's content, upon the immense advantages that would accrue from the adoption of the modern rained construction thereof, prophesying untold evils to this country from the British possessions in Canada, Central America and the Bermudas. This country has as much as it can well do to attend to its own business, and the less it has to do with that of others, the better.

SENATOR CARTER, chairman of the national republican committee, says the silver republicans are absolutely confident that the next Congress will pass a free silver bill, that the President will veto it, and that the silver republicans will then have their own way in the next national republican convention, or else will organize a bolt in the electoral college. As Mr. Carter is said by those who know him to be prudent man, and as the republican party want control of the government, irrespective of the means by which it can be obtained, it is by no means improbable that the next republican candidate for the Presidency may be a silverite after all.

WHILE the services at the dedication of the Confederate monument, at Chicago, were in progress, the Mayor of that city received a telegram from Congressman Boutelle, of Maine, protesting against such an "offensively ostentatious display," in commemoration of dead "rebels" and "traitors." In sending this telegram Mr. Boutelle was supported by the commander of the G. A. R. of the department of New England, and neither of them would have done such a thing if he hadn't been convinced that it was in accord with the popular feeling of the part of the country in which he resides.

NOW THAT the memorial services are over, and the gushing quieted, to give place to quarreling, it would be well if a determination were reached that hereafter the money heretofore spent on people now beyond all mortal care, be appropriated to the relief of the sufferings of those yet alive. Practical, is vastly better than mere sentimental sympathy. If the dead could talk, they would say: "Your flowers we cannot see, nor your music hear, they are of no benefit to us; put the money they cost where it will do the most good—at the service of our indigent widows and children."

RELIALE statistics show a great increase of insanity in recent years. Straining after wealth, and, when attained, its resulting luxury, idleness and debauchery, and poverty, with its laziness, dispendency and crime, are not only predisposing, but inciting causes of craziness, and when to them is added the intense heat of the past two days, who can withstand the rapid approach of midsummer madness?

THE Chamber of Commerce of Philadelphia has followed the example of that of numerous other cities, and declared against the silver craze. If the members of such bodies were wise, they would know that their opposition is the most effective support they could possibly give the cranks, demagogues, and selfishly interested men who are leading that craze. The best thing they can do is to keep mum.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 31.

No news has been received at the State Department of the serious Bedouin outbreak in Arabia and the possibilities thus opened of active European intervention in that portion of the Turkish dominions. This is not surprising, inasmuch as the United States has no

Speculation in the executive department as to Mr. Gresham's successor has developed a cabinet slate which transfers Attorney General Olney to the State Department; Postmaster General Wilson to the Department of Justice, vice Olney; and Acting Secretary of the State Department to the Post Office Department vice Wilson.

These changes, of course, are simply speculations, but the sources from which they originate suggest that they may be put out as "feelers" to elicit public sentiment. It is also said that Mr. Carlisle is by no means a favorite with the bankers he may be transferred to the State Department.

C. R. Skillman was appointed postmaster at Conklin, Louisiana county, Va., to-day, vice J. R. Conklin, dead.

Mr. Walton Harper, formerly of Alexandria, but now of Orange county, Va., passed through here to-day on his way home from a tour through Egypt and the Holy Land. The party with whom he traveled escaped assault, but only by reason of the large guard by whom they were protected, the party just ahead of them having been attacked and plundered by the Desert robbers.

A well-known old ex-Confederate now resident here says he can't keep up with the age. He says the war is over with him, and he does not nurse the spirit of revenge and would not harm one hair of the head of any ex-Union soldier, but for all that, he would not have gone to Chicago and gushed and slattered over the men who, brave and generous as they may be, came South and waged an aggressive, needless and unboly war upon his people, and inflicted death and destruction upon all he held most dear.

Judge Tebb of Loudoun county, Va., was among the visitors here to-day. He is reported as saying that while Mr. Ryan will have some position both for re-nomination and re-election to the Legislature, he will have little or no trouble in effecting both those objects; also, as saying that he is in favor of Judge McCabe for the Congressional democratic nomination in his district.

Congress makes no provision for the burial of members of the Cabinet, and it is reported here that while the Pullman Company supplied the requisite cars, and the B. & O. R. R. the motive power, the President paid all the other expenses of the late Secretary Gresham's funeral out of his own pocket.

The contestants in the Alexandria county election case went from here to Alexandria to-day to attend to some preliminary business in connection with that case, which has to be done within ten days after the election. Johnson of Alexandria, and Mr. Edmund Burke of this city.

The counsel in the Thorp-McKenny contested election case has been notified by the Clerk of the House to be at his room in the Capitol on the 17th of June to open the papers filed there in that case, and that in the Yost-Tucker case, to be at the same place on the 18th, for the like purpose.

An intelligent gentleman who has just returned to this city from a business tour through nearly the whole State of Texas, says the people of that State are not only in favor of free silver, but are fighting mad with those who oppose it, and that the State will give the white metal a hundred thousand majority.

A large property owner in Alexandria county, here to-day, says he is of the firm belief that the inspiring motive of the whole attack upon Alexandria county by some of the people and newspapers of this city, is to prevent the sale of lots there by giving the county a bad name, and forcing home seekers to buy lots on the north side of the river.

In talking about the late Secretary of State to-day, a personal friend of his said he first showed his unreasonableness by his action in the case of the Knights of the Golden Circle, and his demagoguery, by his opposition to the McKinley bill.

Among those on foot in the procession to Arlington yesterday, many pension agents were observed, who, on all other days are seen riding about in their carriages. An old Diogenes who saw them, remarked that they walked one day, in order that they might ride all the rest of the year.

Mrs. Sarah Goldsmith, wife of Mr. Goldsmith, died suddenly at her residence, in Fredericksburg, yesterday.

On Tuesday, June 11th, Miss Annie Brannan, daughter of Mr. Wm. Brannan, of Fredericksburg, and Rev. Walter James Hubbard, of the Baltimore conference, Winchester, will be married.

A company is being organized and options have been secured on a 400 acre tract, where the best showing of ore occurs.

Chantilly mill has started up again under the management of Mr. Miller, of Herndon, who purchased it a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Rebecca Wiley, of Herndon, 94 years of age, a few days since fell and broke her leg. It is thought that she cannot survive many days.

JUNE FORECASTS.—An equinox of Mercury is central on June 3rd, and will tend to prolong cloudiness and storms through much of the time up to storm period commencing about the 5th.

The Venus equinox is central on the 12th, with Jupiter bearing directly from May 17th, hence we may look for dangerous phenomena from about 6th to 9th, and the reactionary storm from about 11th to 13th are apt to be many and heavy. Local waterspouts and cloudbursts, in the nature of things, are to be apprehended. Hail, with intense electrical activity, and sudden changes to very cool, are things to be expected. Watch for tornado and cyclonic developments. Such is the case this month.

From 16th to 20th expect many storms, much rain in many places, with vivid lightning, hail and wind. Moon moon on 22d will prolong storm conditions into 23d and 24th. Very cool for the season after storms have passed away. Frost growing very warm, with storms in full progress from west to east.

THE MARYLAND EPISCOPAL COUNCIL.—The Maryland Episcopal Council, which has been in session in Washington since Wednesday, adjourned last night.

The following were elected to the General Convention: Clergy—Rev. J. H. Eccleston, D.D., Rev. J. H. Elliott, D.D., Rev. J. S. B. Hodges, D.D., and Rev. R. S. McKim, D.D. Lay—Messrs. Skipwith Wilmer, Joseph Packard, J. C. Bancroft Davis and Wm. Keyser.

Much interest is felt in the formation of the new diocese of Washington. There are a number of pastors in the Washington diocese who will, in all probability, become candidates for the bishopric, should it be left to Washington to hold the election. The three strong men would, of course, be the pastors of the three principal Episcopal churches, Rev. Alexander Mackay-Smith, of St. John's; Rev. J. H. Elliott, of the Ascension, and Rev. Randolph H. McKim, rector of the Epiphany, where the convention was held.

THE MINING TROUBLES.—A dispatch from Pocahontas says the features of interest yesterday in the strike situation were the continued desertion of strikers from the ranks of the union, and the increase of forces at the works on Elk Horn on Wednesday, and the large increase of coal, most especially at the Northwest mines, there.

The military rigor has relaxed somewhat, and West Virginia miners come and go as they please. There is no excitement at Pocahontas. The streets are remarkably free from idle people. The military is being gradually withdrawn. The Nottoway Grays left yesterday, and the Portsmouth troops will be relieved to-day. A few troops will be kept there until all danger of trouble is past.

THE GROWING WHEAT crop in this county has been looking beautiful, and promising an abundant yield; but in the past few days, just as the grain is beginning to head, we understand that an enemy very much resembling the fly, has assailed it in many neighborhoods, which threatens to do it serious injury. Some kind of an insect appears to attack the stalk in the joints, completely destroying its vitality, and causing it to drop and fall as if broken by a severe storm. We hope it may not prove as serious as some of our farmer friends apprehend.—Leesburg Mirror.

SOVEREIGNTY OF THE PAPACY.—The divisional court at Mont Didier, France, has condemned the Pope to pay the costs of the litigation over the will of the late Marquise de Pleis-Beliere, who bequeathed her property to her holiness, excluding her next of kin. The court refused to stay judgment. The court dismissed the case on the ground that the Pope was a sovereign and was therefore unable to own an estate or administer a will in France.

The steamer Martha, belonging to Tang, the rebel Governor of Formosa, but sailing under the German flag, is reported to have returned to China after having landed men and munitions of war sent to Formosa by Chang Chi Tung, the Viceroy of Nanking.

The Lost Steamer.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—A special from the City of Mexico says that official advices received to-day bear out the main statements of the sinking of the steamer Colima contained in previous dispatches with the exception that the steamer was lost on the night of the 26th instant, thirty miles south-east of Manzanillo and ten to fifteen miles off shore at Boca de Apiza, by striking a coral reef and staying in her bow. The ship filled and sank with the loss of life as previously reported.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—A special dispatch from the City of Mexico, concerning the awful tidings of the Colima's fate says the substance of dispatches received up to this time is as follows: At about eight o'clock on the morning of the 27th the Colima was struck by a powerful wind and was driven upon a coral reef and sunk with a large hole stove in her side near the bow. Captain J. F. Taylor, after displaying masterly skill in the management of the vessel, was killed by a falling mast. The first pilot and first engineer were also killed and soon after the boat struck the reef and went down in 130 fathoms of water. Nearly 24 hours after the coast line steamer San Juan picked up sixteen survivors and carried them into the port of Manzanillo. Five others swam ashore at Coahuayauac and five more—three cabin passengers and two sailors—were subsequently rescued by a government boat sent by the Pacific mail at Manzanillo. One hundred and eighty-eight persons are known to have been drowned and twenty six were saved.

Pine Mirage up the Hudson.

MOUNT HOPE, May 31.—The early risers of this village saw a remarkable mirage yesterday. It showed in the clouds a strip of the New York bank of the Hudson river nearly twenty miles long. The city of Yonkers was so plainly depicted that some of the residences were recognizable. There was the image of tugs and ferryboats plying the river, and of big chimneys pouring out smoke. The most wonderful part of the spectacle was the arrival of a New York Central train at Yonkers. The train appeared to break into the mirage from the south, to plough its way through as if running on a solid foundation, and then completely disappear at the northern end of the sky. The mirage lasted about thirty minutes and was seen by a great many people.

Fatal Accident to a Boating Party.

WORCESTER, Mass., May 31.—Last evening a boat containing Frederick Dame, Thomas F. O'Donnell, Miss Nellie White and Laura Bertram was overturned on Lake Quinsigamond and the two latter were drowned. The young ladies were residents of North Grafton and had come to Worcester to visit relatives. Not only were the young men and the ladies not acquainted with each other, but the young men were also total strangers. Dame was rowing near the shore when he was accosted by O'Donnell, who had made a chance acquaintance with the girls, and who asked that the three be given a ride. The boat was overturned while the men were attempting to change seats.

Storms and Floods.

DENVER, Col., May 31.—The storms in Colorado yesterday were the worst known for years. The entire country has been soaked with a heavy rain for nearly 36 hours. It promises to continue all night and is accompanied with high winds. There is four feet of snow at the mining camps in the mountains. Water is so deep in the streets of Holyoke that a row boat has made trips up and down the streets, and many streams are swollen. The storm means of millions to the farmers, coming at a most opportune time.

Reported Lynching.

LOGAN, O., May 31.—Nelson Featheroff, aged fifty, who was arrested Wednesday on a charge of attempting to assault a ten-year-old girl on his farm, was taken from jail last night, hanged to the limb of a tree and his body shot full of holes. Featheroff was a rough, uncultured man and appeared indifferent to his fate. He had a wife and six married daughters. [Another dispatch states that Featheroff is in jail at Chillicothe.]

The Weather.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The warm wave which struck here yesterday increased in intensity to-day, making this the hottest May 31 since the weather bureau was established, 25 years ago. The official thermometer registered 89 degrees at a few minutes after 11 o'clock this morning. This is three degrees higher than the highest point reached heretofore this year, viz: 86 degrees on May 10.

Miss Elsie Colman, daughter of the late Wm. T. Colman, a wealthy banker of Dunkirk, N. Y., committed suicide last night by shooting. Miss Colman was about 20 years of age and surrounded with all the luxuries that wealth could provide. Her friends are at a loss to determine why she should have taken her own life.

At St. Louis this morning Emma Moore, called at the residence of Mrs. Richardson, in response to a note stating that the latter wished to employ her as a domestic. She was met at the door by William Ashe, a former lover, who drew a dagger and stabbed her in the back, inflicting a wound which will cause her death. It is believed he wrote the note and stabbed her as the result of jealousy.

Mollie Wade, aged nineteen years, a colored teacher in the Dunham School in St. Louis, was found dead on a cot in a stable this morning with two bullet wounds—one in the left side of the head and the other in the left breast. Suspicion points to Charles Webb, a half breed Mexican and Indian, as the perpetrator of the crime. He was the last person seen in the dead woman's company and slept in the stable where the body was found.

A cloudburst is reported near Ozona, Crockett county, Tex., Monday, in which a number of lives were lost. The remains of five Mexicans have been recovered. The Devil's river and Johnson Draws became raging mountain torrents and a number of large ranches are yet surrounded by, if not covered, with water and fears are felt for the lives of the many inhabitants in those localities. Sheep are reported to have been drowned in large bunches and miles of fencing washed away.

The steamers Norman and Jack were in collision in a dense fog near Middle Island, Lake Huron, last night. The Jack struck the Norman amidships, tearing a huge hole in her side and causing her to sink almost instantly. All of her crew, with the exception of Mrs. Reynolds, the steward's wife, Watchman Bernstein and a deck-hand, named "Tony," succeeded in escaping in the steamer's small boats before she went down. These three unfortunate members of the crew could not be rescued in time. The Jack was loaded with timber.

Telegraphic advices from over fifty points in southern Iowa, eastern Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Indian Territory and northern Texas state that a heavy rain has fallen in those sections during the past 24 hours. In some places it was the first rainfall in over 6 weeks and has been of incalculable benefit to crops of all kinds. In southern Illinois and Indiana the drought remains unbroken and a scorching hot wind has done great damage to wheat, oats and corn. Unless rain falls soon the crops in these portions of the States of Indiana and Illinois will be a total failure.

Gov. Morton returned to Albany from New York this morning. He said he was feeling well and that he experienced no ill effects from his fainting spell yesterday.

Mrs. Catherine Giquel, 38 years old, wife of Battalion Chief Giquel of the New York fire department, was found dead at Long Branch, N. J., this morning.

President Cleveland's Return.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The Presidential train on its return journey from Chicago is reported to be falling slightly behind time and is not expected to reach Washington until some time after 5 o'clock p. m. The President will be back in ample time to commemorate with his family the eighth anniversary of his wedding day, June 2nd, 1887.

A BOY'S HORRIBLE DEATH.—At noon on Wednesday, as the ferry-boat Charleston, plying between the foot of Eleventh street, Wheeling, W. Va., and the Ohio street wharf, on Wheeling Island, was landing on the island side the body of a young man was discovered hanging against the stern bulkhead, beside which the rudder posts stand. The post and bulkhead were dripping with blood. The body was extricated with some difficulty and proved to be that of James McCourtney, aged ten, a son of James R. McCourtney, a leading iron and steel manufacturer and a prominent and wealthy citizen. The boy had boarded the boat from school to the family residence, on the island, and evidently prompted by curiosity, had put his head through the hole to watch the movement of the rudder. When the rudder was shifted the heavy post jammed his head against the bulkhead and crushed his skull like an eggshell.

WHITE DUCK SUITS.—A number of members of the New York Stock Exchange have been canvassed recently by a clothing firm, which wishes evidently to make a run on white duck suits this summer. They have told the brokers that if they will give them an order they will see that a perfect fit is insured, and the garments made in the best style for $5 a suit.

The idea is to get people to wearing cool suits, and start a fashion which New Yorkers need badly enough when the weather is as hot as usual in June, July and August. If representative men start the fashion the clothiers think there will be a great demand for them.

AN AUDIENCE OF ONE.—Rev. J. K. Wilcox, recently pastor of the First Christian church, Chicago, and now out of a place, carried out his promise Sunday to preach if he had to do it on the sidewalk. He had trouble with his congregation recently and was barred out of the church.

The edifice was closed. Mr. Wilcox appeared on the sidewalk at the usual church hour. One man was there to hear him. The preacher read his text and Bible lesson. The congregation sat down on the curb and appeared interested. The minister plunged into his subject and delivered a very impressive sermon. Then he pronounced the benediction, and grasping the man by the hand, said:

"Brother, your presence has been a source of gratification and pride to me. May I inquire who you are?"

"You may," said the man.

"Well, then, who are you?"

"I am a reporter," said the man. Then he walked away.

The North American Review for June has been received from its publishers in New York. Among its contents are: The Power and Wealth of the United States, by Michael G. Mulhall. Mr. Mulhall is a noted statistician, born in Ireland in 1836, and educated at the Irish College in Rome, England, Venezuela and the Monroe Doctrine, by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts; A Cable Post, by J. Henken Heaton, M. P.; Can West Point Be Made More Useful? by Gen. John Gibbon, U. S. A.; Glimpses of Charles Dickens, by Charles Dickens, the younger, and Military Lessons of the Sino-Japanese War, by Hon. Hilary A. Herbert, Secretary of the Navy.

CHASING A FIEND IN A BOAT.—A daughter of George Morris, a Spaniard living on an island near Brunswick, Ga., appeared before the grand jury yesterday and swore that her stepfather had, by brute force, for three years made herself and sisters his victims, keeping them under threats of death from communicating with any person. The grand jury ordered sheriff Berrie to capture Morris at any cost. Word reached Morris and he packed his belongings and family in a houseboat and is trying to escape. Deputy Sheriff Lambright and Constables Taylor and Denby are out on a steam launch searching for him. Morris has sent a defiant message to the officers.

THE POPULATION of the earth in 1891 was estimated approximately as follows: Asia, 825,954,000; Europe, 357,379,000; Africa, 163,953,000; America, 121,713,000; Oceanic Islands and polar regions, 7,500,000; Australia, 3,230,000. If the theory that the increase is five per thousand persons per year, is a sound one, the population of the earth to-day probably is about 1,500,000,000. In Asia there are 48 persons to the square mile, in Africa 15, in America 8, in the Oceanic Islands and the polar regions 3, and in Australia 1. The average for the world is about 28 persons to the square mile.
